

BIOGRAPHY

Assoc.Prof. Fahriye Oflaz (PhD., RN) has been a faculty member at the Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing Department at Koç University School of Nursing in Istanbul.

She graduated from Gulhane Military Medical Academy (GMMA) School of Nursing in 1989 as a military nurse. She completed her master's degree (1995) and doctoral degree (2001) at Gülhane Military Medical Academy Health Sciences Institute.

The doctoral thesis was on "Evaluation the effect of nursing counseling sessions on post-traumatic stress disorder symptoms". She participated into postdoctoral program at Johns Hopkins University, School of Nursing between 2003-2004. She had been faculty member from that time until 2010 at GMMA School of Nursing. After retiring military service in 2012 she worked at Nursing Departments of Yeditepe University and Okan University, .

Her areas of interest are Psychological trauma and psychological first aid, Care and recovery in chronic mental illness, Community mental health, Group therapies, Psychosocial issues related to medical conditions, psychiatric nursing education

She was the president of the Turkish Psychiatric Nurses Association between 2014-2018. She has publications, chapters, abstracts/congress proceedings in Turkish and English.